DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 1/14/08 have been fully considered and they are not persuasive. Applicant argues Jackson does not disclose or suggest a tapered main section having a taper that decreases from a maximum outer dimension to the insertion tip as recited in claim 1. However, a tapered main section 16 includes the part after insertion tip, which is clearly tapered and decreases from a maximum outer dimension (Figure 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jackson et al. USPN 6890324. Jackson discloses a barrel for use with a tampon applicator assembly comprising: a tapered main section 16,20 adjacent insertion tip 22 and a finger grip 32 adjacent the tapered main section and opposite the insertion tip 20, wherein the finger grip has a first region 34 intersecting the tapered main section at a first plane having a maximum outer dimension and a gripping region 30 intersecting the first region and having a second outer dimension where maximum outer dimension is larger than the second outer dimension (Figure 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 29-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jackson et al. USPN 6890324.

As to claims 29-31, 32, 34, and 35, Jackson discloses the present invention substantially as claimed except Jackson does not disclose the claimed percentage the maximum outer dimension is located from the insertion tip or the claimed taper ratio. In Gardner v. TEC Systems, Inc., 725 F.2d 1338, 220 USPQ 777 (Fed. Cir. 1984), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 830, 225 USPQ 232 (1984), the Federal Circuit held that, where the only difference between the prior art and the claims was a recitation of relative dimensions of the claimed device and a device having the claimed relative dimensions would not perform differently than the prior art device, the claimed device was not patentably distinct from the prior art device.

As to claims 36 and 37, Jackson discloses the present invention substantially as claimed except Jackson does not disclose the petal length-to-width ratio. However, Jackson discloses a tampon inserter having an insertion end sized to enable the plunger to expel the pledget. In Gardner v. TEC Systems, Inc., 725 F.2d 1338, 220 USPQ 777 (Fed. Cir. 1984), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 830, 225 USPQ 232 (1984), the Federal Circuit held that, where the only difference between the prior art and the claims was a recitation of relative dimensions of the claimed device and a device having the claimed relative dimensions would not perform differently than the prior art device, the claimed device was not patentably distinct from the prior art device.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claims 22-24, 26, and 27 are allowed.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
